AWFS® Fair 2027 Opens Call for Proposals for CWWK Education Program

Anaheim, Calif. – October 22, 2026 – The call for proposals is now open for the College of Woodworking Knowledge (CWWK), the educational seminar program at AWFS®Fair 2027, taking place July 13-15, 2027 at the Las Vegas Convention Center in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Industry professionals are invited to share their knowledge and experience by submitting proposals for educational sessions that address the challenges, opportunities, and emerging technologies shaping the woodworking and furnishings industry. Technical experts, exhibitors, business owners and managers, consultants, educators, and other wood products manufacturing professionals are encouraged to participate. Proposals must be submitted by December 15, 2026.

CWWK offers a variety of educational formats, from 60–90-minute presentations and panel discussions to workshops, demonstrations, and curated show-floor tours. Sessions will be organized into six tracks: Business Management, Workforce, Software & Technology, Production Technology, Architecture & Design, and the Teacher Track, designed specifically for woodworking educators.

The program aims to provide woodworking professionals with practical knowledge, fresh perspectives, and ideas they can apply in their businesses, classrooms, and careers. Those with relevant expertise or an innovative approach to sharing industry knowledge are encouraged to submit a proposal.
